

The Divine Script Behind Ancient Superpowers

The Bible presents a sweeping panorama of human history, marked by the rise and fall of nations and empires. These historical movements are not mere happenstance but are under the sovereign hand of God, who raises and brings down kingdoms according to His divine purpose (Daniel 2:21). Understanding the historical flow of these kingdoms enriches our grasp of God's providential governance and His unfolding plan of redemption.

This podcast explores the major empires that shaped biblical history, from the ancient world of Babel to the Roman Empire at the time of Christ. We will examine how Scripture reveals God's control over these powers and the theological significance behind their ascendancy and decline. By tracing these kingdoms, we gain insight into God's justice, mercy, and ultimate establishment of His eternal kingdom.

As we journey through the biblical narrative, we will see that earthly kingdoms serve as instruments in God's redemptive plan, often acting as both judgment and preparation for the coming of the Messiah. This perspective calls us to trust in God's sovereignty amid the shifting tides of history and to look forward to Christ's eternal reign.
