

Ezekiel's Battle of Magog - Timing and Significance

The prophecy of the Battle of Gog and Magog in Ezekiel 38-39 is one of the most detailed accounts of an end-time war in Scripture. It describes a future coalition of nations that will invade Israel, only to be destroyed by God Himself. This prophecy raises many questions: When will it take place? Who are the nations involved? And what purpose does it serve in God's prophetic plan?

By examining Ezekiel's description and comparing it with other prophetic passages, we can gain a better understanding of its timing and significance.
